1. KAIA ESSENCE

- Overview

Overview

King Abdul Aziz International Airport (KAIA) is the gateway to Saudi Arabia, reflecting the Kingdom's vision for a modern, inclusive, and world-class aviation hub. As the crossroads of ambitions, KAIA is committed to connecting cultures, facilitating growth, and providing unmatched travel experiences.

Vision

To facilitate the country’s drive to nurture the social-cultural-economic spirit of the nation.

Mission

To create a world-class aviation hub that radiates Saudi hospitality, connects people, and drives the Kingdom’s dynamic growth and development.

2. BRAND STRATEGY

- Overview

Our Purpose

The brand’s reason for existing, expressed as the owner’s fundamental belief and higher-order aim.

Building our nation with our hearts. Inviting the world to witness our ambition.

Brand Values

Professional

We uphold systematic, transparent, and efficient operations, ensuring capable and reliable service at every level.

Ambitious

Driven by innovation and knowledge, we stay proactive, progressive, and up-to-date to lead in aviation excellence.

Responsible

Committed and determined, we uphold safety, sustainability, and service excellence for a better future.

Confident

Proud and inspiring, we embrace challenges with success-driven confidence, setting new standards in global aviation.

Hospitable

Welcoming and supportive, we create a seamless, comfortable experience, always understanding and accommodating travelers’ needs.

Our Airport Environment

KAIA is dedicated to being eco-friendly, integrating sustainable design, recycled materials, and energy-efficient operations to achieve LEED Silver certification and minimize our carbon footprint.

As a barrier-free airport, we ensure accessibility for all travelers, creating an inclusive experience that welcomes people from all backgrounds.With state-of-the-art technology, we implement the latest innovations to provide a seamless, efficient, and world-class journey for every passenger.

Our Tone Of Voice

Inspired by our brand values, this is how we should sound when we interact with our target audience or if they are exposed to the brand.

Whether we are interacting face-to-face through advertising, announcements or formal communication, we must ensure that every word we utter, every picture we use and every tone we make is: welcoming, accommodating, understanding, confident and committed.

Our Tone Of Voice

Voice Principles

Voice principles are guidelines that inspire copywritting and create a coherent and consistent tone of voice across channels and stakeholders.

Welcoming

“Step into KAIA, where every journey begins with a warm smile and true Saudi hospitality.”

Accomodating

“Whatever your needs, we’re here to help—KAIA is designed for your comfort and convenience.”

Understanding

“We know travel can be stressful. That’s why we make every step easy, smooth, and worry-free.”

Confident

“We know travel can be stressful. That’s why we make every step easy, smooth, and worry-free.”

Committed

“We know travel can be stressful. That’s why we make every step easy, smooth, and worry-free.”

Our Tone Of Voice

Do’s

“Welcome to KAIA, where every journey begins with a warm smile and true Saudi hospitality.”

Do’s

“Need assistance? Our team is always ready to help—just ask!”

Do’s

We know plans change—that’s why we make it easy to adjust and move forward.”

Don’t

“Passengers must follow all airport guidelines upon arrival.”

Don’t

“For support, visit the help desk and follow the standard procedure.”

Don’t

“Changes to travel plans must be handled through the appropriate channels.”

Our Slogan

By definition KAIA facilitates all stakeholders' ambitions with their airport whether it is the economy, the operator or a guest from abroad. Thus, by virtue of being a brand that links all of them together, we create a crossroads for them.

ملتقـــــى الآفـــــاق
Crossroads of Ambitions

Crossroads:

Reflects not just a hub but an intersection for many things. Jeddah airport is where different elements meet and its location plays a key role.

Ambitions:

Captures KAIA's philosophy of always looking ahead to the future and facilitating stakeholders to achieve their ambitions.

3. VISUAL IDENTITY

Overview

KAIA’s visual identity is the foundation of its brand presence, ensuring consistency and recognition across all touchpoints. A strong and unified visual system reflects KAIA’s values, ambition, and commitment to excellence. This section outlines the essential elements that shape our brand’s visual representation.

Our Brand Mark

The Brand Mark of King Abdulaziz International Airport portrays the essence of the Airport and exhibits its representation as a modern and state of the art facility. The aircraft flight path portrayed in the logo, is inspired by the iconic shape of the new terminal and represents our ambitious spirit, while keeping Jeddah a strategic location at the heart and core of all our activities.

(X) representing the width of “D” and (Y) representing the height of “D”.

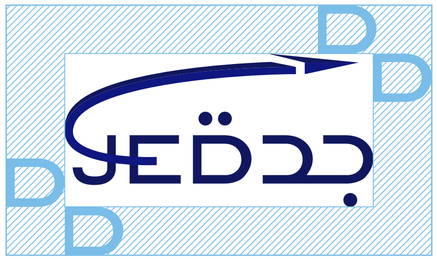

The Brand Mark should never be reproduced. These measurement guides are intended to ensure the Brand Mark maintains its correct proportion.

Positioning Our Signature

(Landscape & Portrait)

It is important to make sure the Brand Mark is clearly reproduced and prominent. For this reason the proper size of the Brand Mark to be placed in portrait or landscape or wide format orientations is determined by the examples herein. A minimum clear space has been created around the Brand Mark within which no other text or graphic elements should appear.

Safety Zone from page edge to signature edge = 3.5X
Clear Space from signature to artwork & text edge minimum = 2X
The proportions of the KAIA Brand Mark should never be altered in any way.

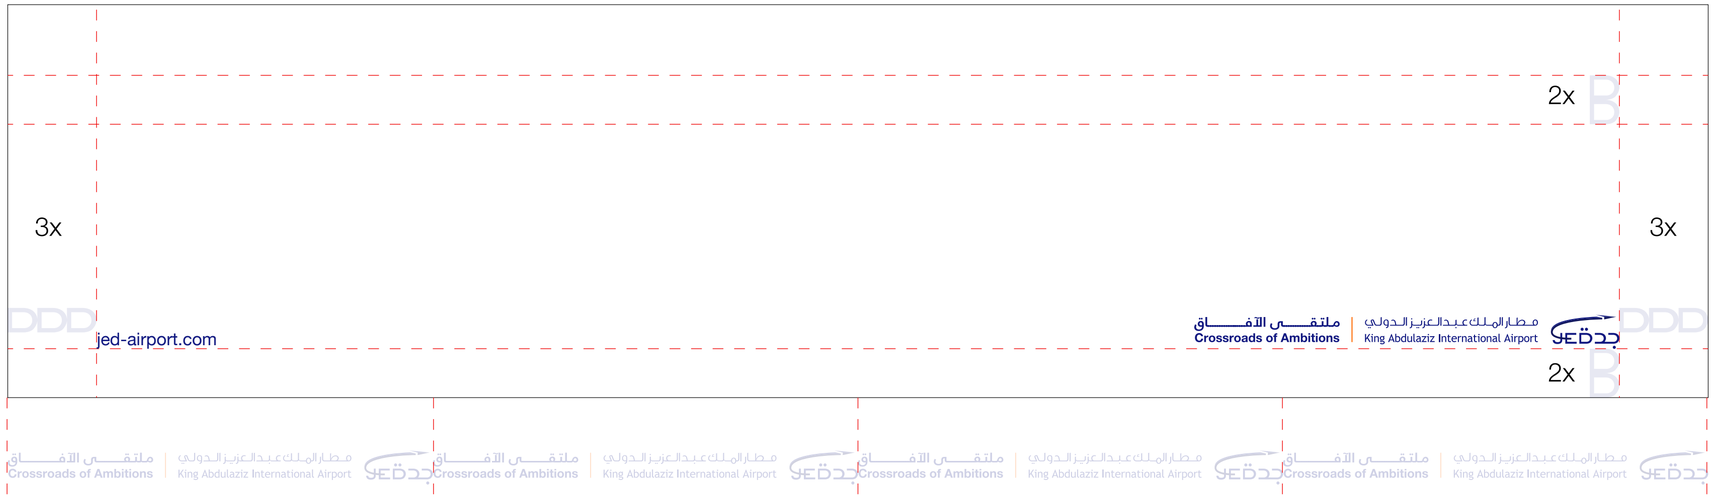

Positioning Our Signature

(Wide Format)

Our secondary Brand Mark should be used when the application is in wide format. Our logo uses the preferred location of the bottom right-hand cornner (in English applications), taking into consideration our brand mark clear space & sizes as explained earlier.

Dont's

Maintaining and implementing the defined visual norms will ensure proper identification of our brand.

Any variation of our logo not included in these guidelines is not allowed.

Do not use the logotype in other colors.

Do not apply shades or other effects to the logotype.

Do not modify, rotate or distort the logotype.

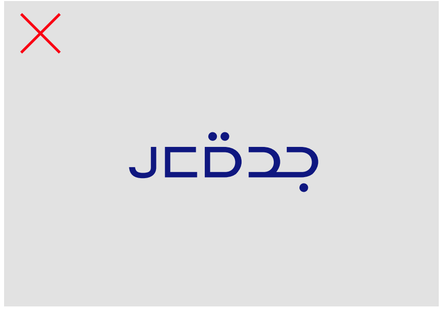

Do not change the proportion of any of the logotype’s elements.

Do not change the proportion of any of the logotype’s elements.

Do not edit the existing distance among the different elements of the logotype.

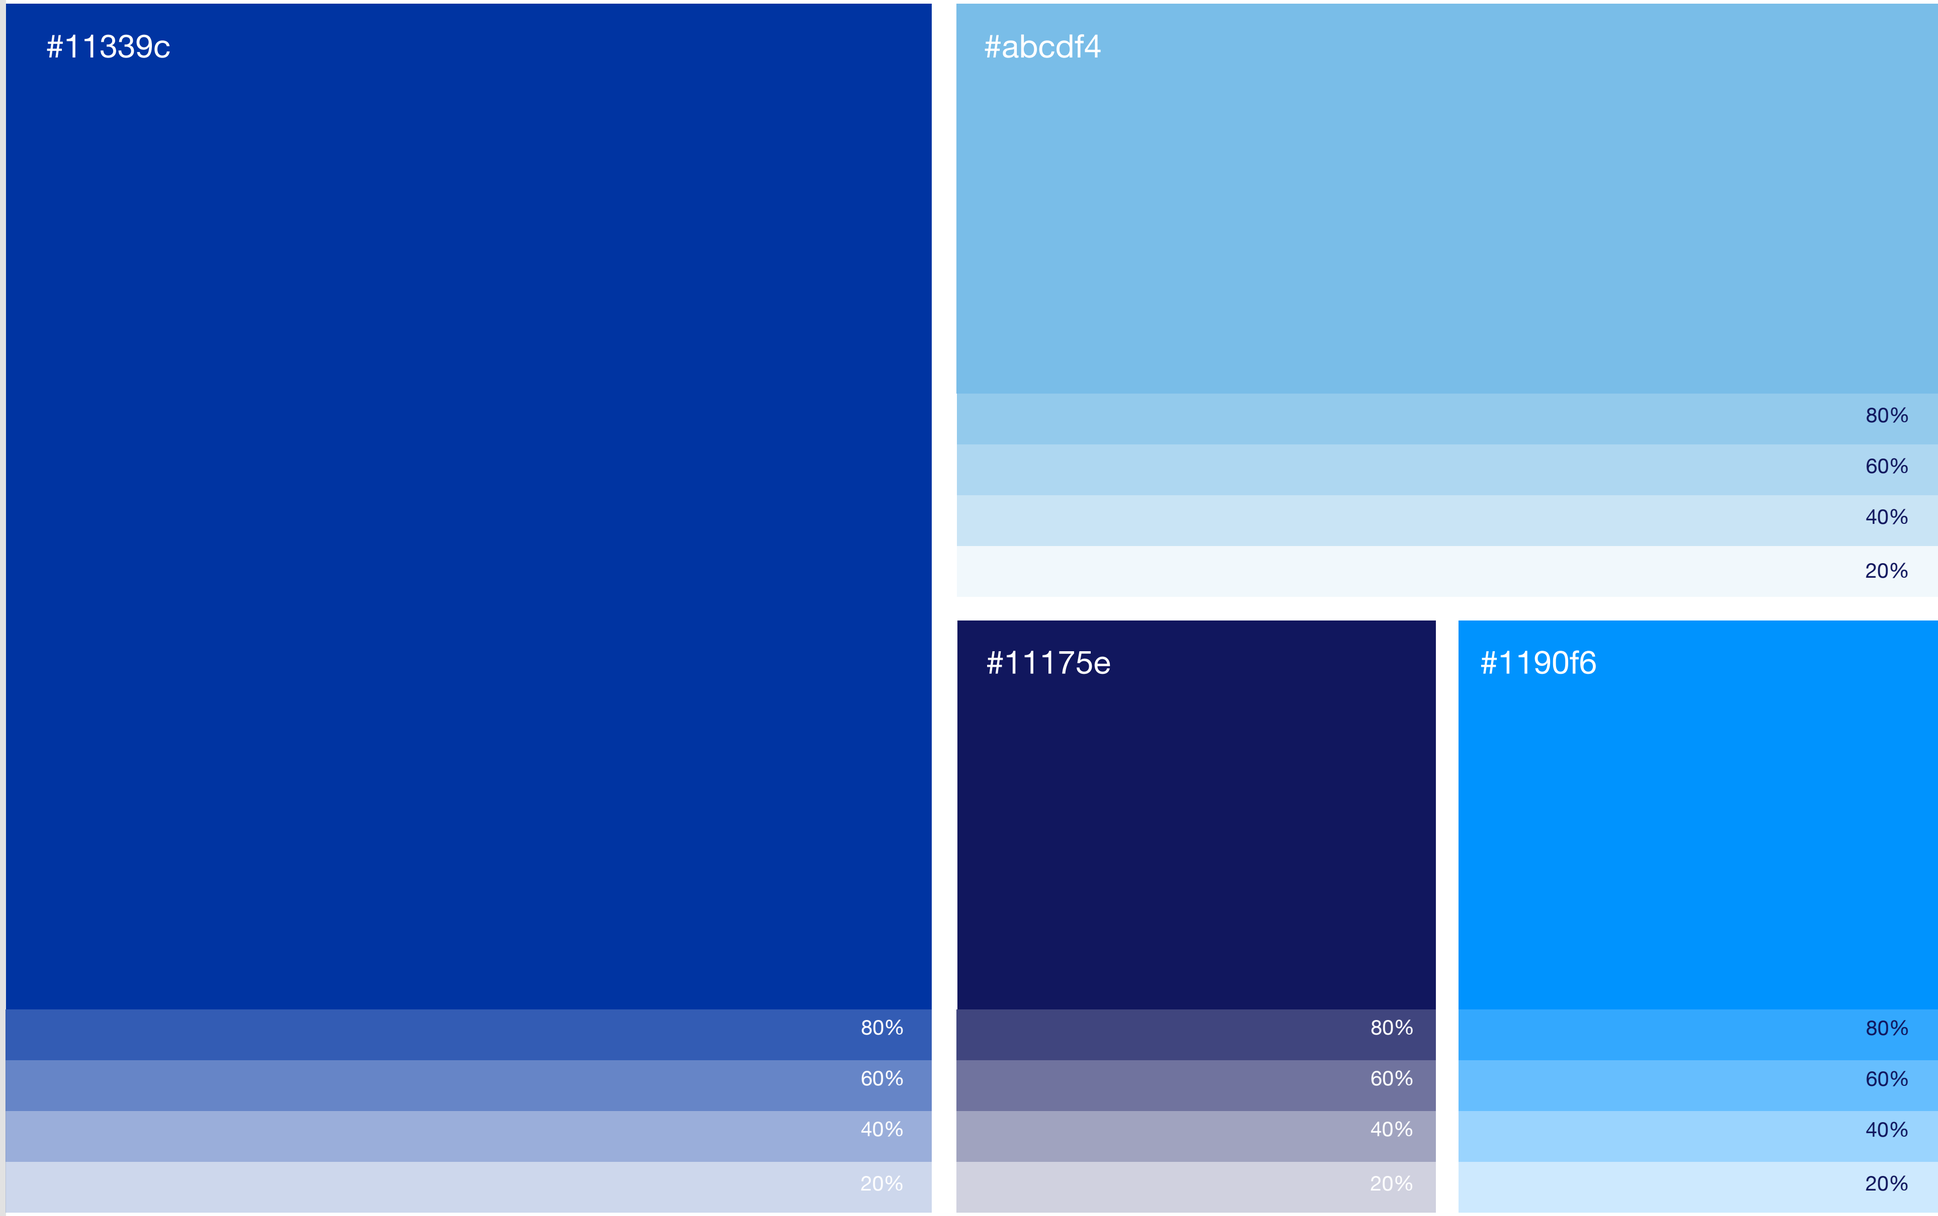

Do not use line versions of our logotype.

Do not use our logotype over photographs if there is no legibility.

Color Ratio

A well-rounded color palette offers flexibility across design applications, but maintaining visual sophistication requires thoughtful restraint. The primary color palette should consistently lead in all communications to reinforce KAIA's brand identity.

Use the following as a general guide to achieving effective color balance in layouts. These ratios are not rigid rules, but rather visual cues to ensure your composition feels balanced—even when viewed at a glance or through a quick "squint test."

Typography

The Helvetica Neue family of fonts are used for their clarity and legibility from headlines to body copy, providing good design and flexibility for all communication mediums. The integrity of the font should be respected at all times i.e. No vertical or horizontal scaling, no added stroke etc. To ensure consistency the Helvetica Neue should only be used and NOT the regular Helvetica Font Family. We recommend that where possible the font variation be restricted to the following applications.

Standard Use Of Typography

Typography at KAIA follows a clear and consistent system to maintain a unified visual identity. Headlines are set in Helvetica Neue Bold, uppercase. Body text uses Helvetica Neue regular in sentence case.

Use black text on light backgrounds and white on dark ones. Blue accents are allowed occasionally for highlights but should be minimal. Text should be left-aligned where possible, with line spacing set to 1.4× the type size.

Separate paragraphs with a carriage return for clarity.

Co-Branding

KAIA may be more than the sum of its parts, but its parts are all enormously important. So sometimes the team thinking behind our partnerships, whether with airlines, retail outlets or developers, need to be expressed visually. We do this with CO-branding. It shows who's involved and allows everyone involved to share the credit and the responsibility.

In these instances our Primary should be used. If KAIA is taking the lead, our signature uses the preferred location of the bottom right-hand corner (English Applications) or the bottom left-hand corner (Arabic Applications)–allowing the partner brand to occupy the opposite corner. When KAIA is in a supporting role, we are more flexible as to which signature should be used.

Examples are shown here. Alignment depends on the height or length of the partner brand and common sense should prevail to exact sizing and balance. The usual sizing rules apply.

4. IMAGERY STYLE

Our Images

The images we use should fall into these areas: people, planes & places. They help support our slogan “Crossroads of Ambitions”. If we wish to portray ourselves as a vibrant place where people have a good experience, we need to show lots of passengers enjoying our spaces and services. People photography helps us to communicate a message quickly and positively.

5. DESIGN SYSTEM

Mark Usage -Placement

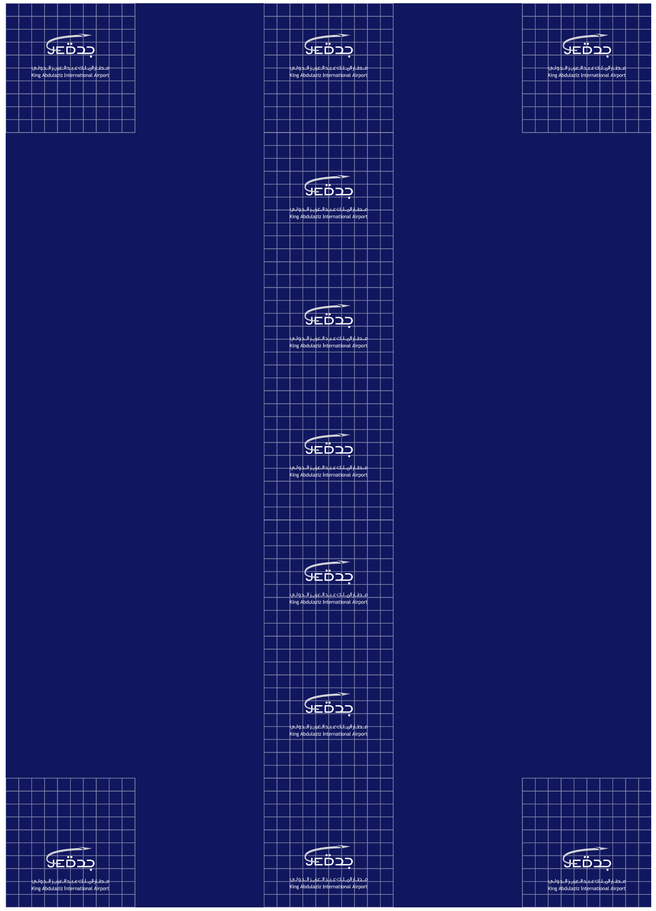

Center Stage

Use the centered brand mark when the objective is to hero the KAIA brand.
Ensure the mark remains clearly visible and isn’t lost over busy or complex imagery.
Across all formats, the center-stage treatment is intentionally larger than the standard brand presence size to establish strong visual impact.
Example: Intro and outroframes of airport promo videos or visual identity films
Use case: Clear, impactful entry point showing the brand confidently

Brand Presence

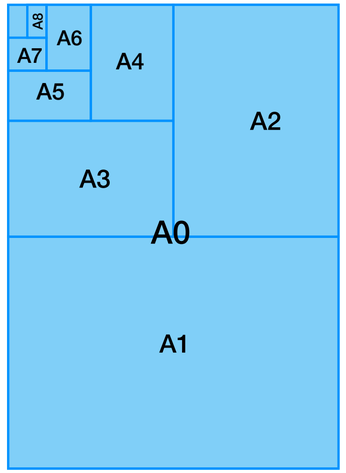

When content takes precedence—such as cover titles or key messages—the brand mark can be positioned in a corner or within the central column, wherever best complements the layout and background.
In this approach, the mark plays a supporting role, reinforcing presence without dominating the composition.

Our Communication Templates

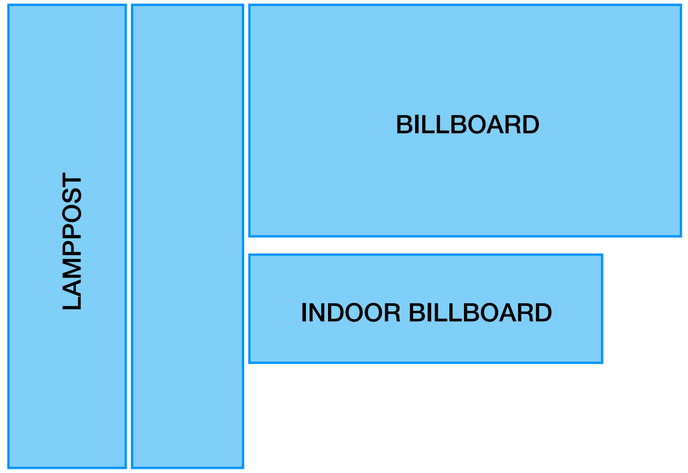

Define the size based on the specifications supplied or relevant media formats e.g. A0, A1, A2, lamppost, skyscraper, mupi, unipole, etc.

EXTREME

Step 1:
Determine whether your layout will have a border

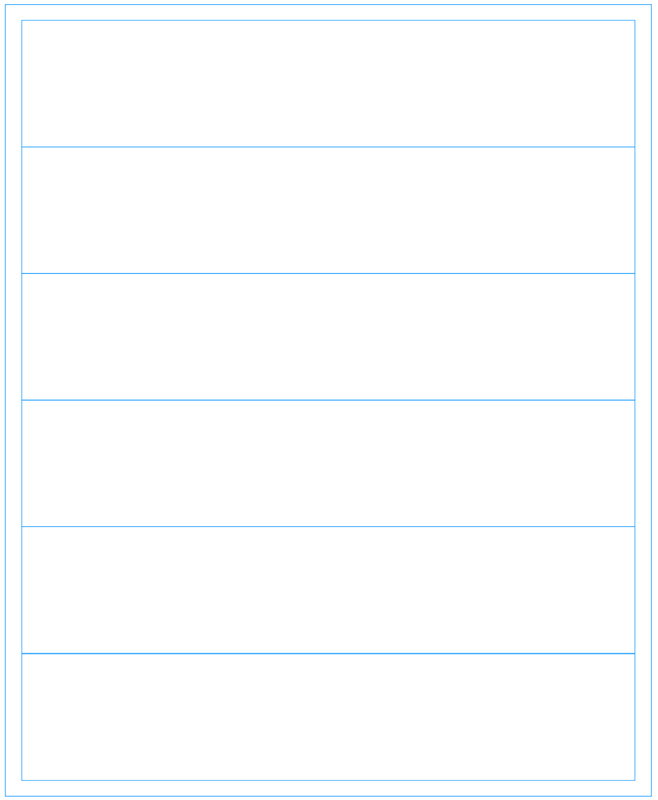

Your layout may “bleed” to the edges of the working area, or you may add a border which can later be filled with color or imagery. The size of the border is flexible, but it must have an equal thickness on all sides. In some cases the “live area” will determine what the border needs to be so you do not lose important content because of projection or print limitations.

Once a grid has been established, the same grid needs to be used through the entire mutli-page document or layout.

Layout without border

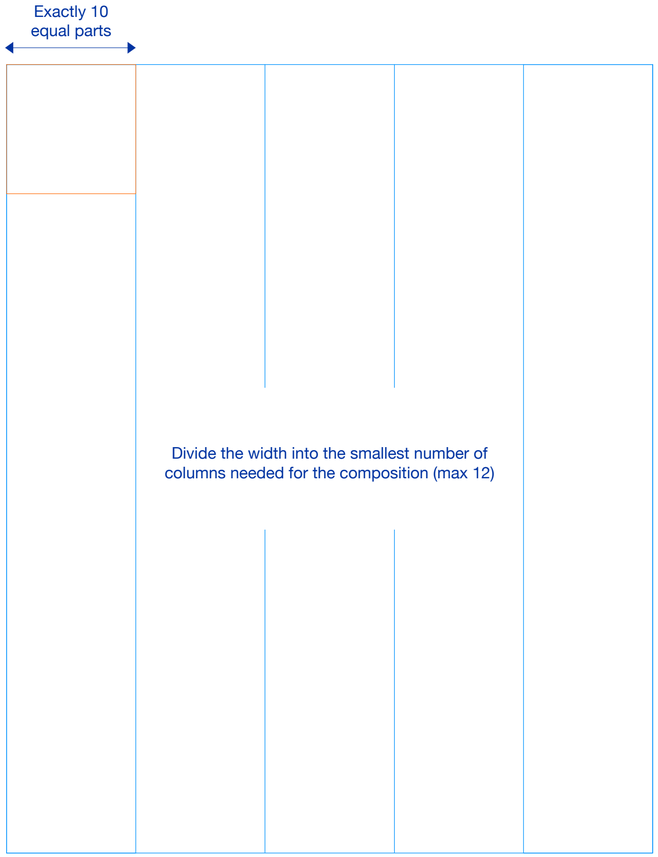

Layout with border

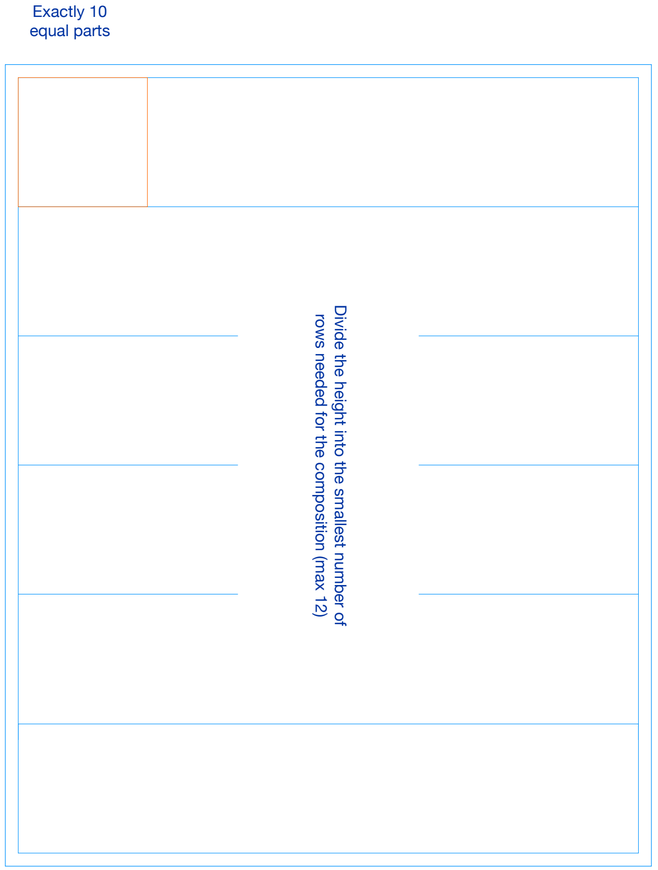

Step 2:
Define your columns or rows and the base grid unit

Choose the width or height of your layout (usually the larger of the two, but not always) as your defining dimension. Divide that dimension into the minimum number of columns or rows needed for the composition (maximum of 13).

Use this dimension (“X” in the diagrams at right) to create a square in one corner of your layout. This is the base grid unit from which you will derive the rest of your grid elements.

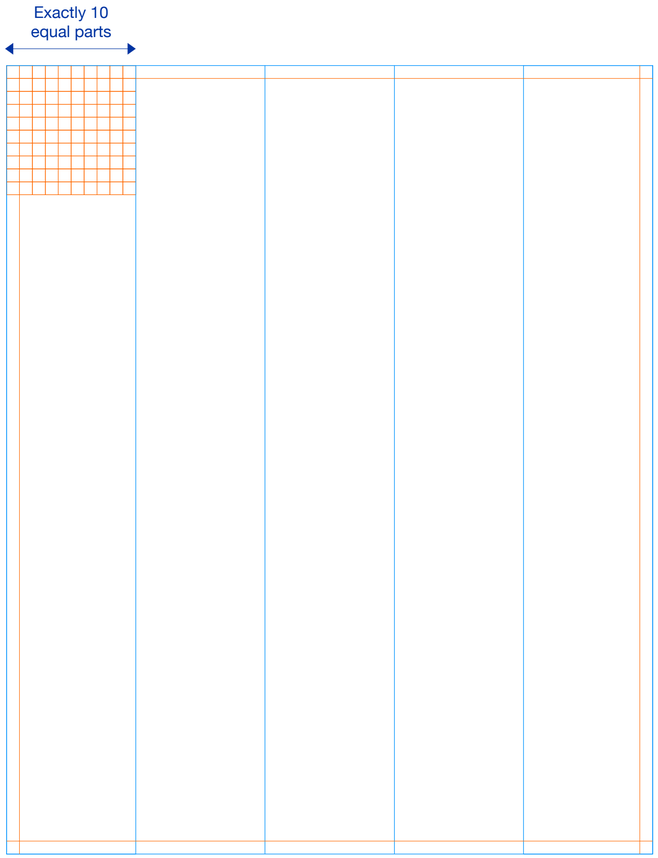

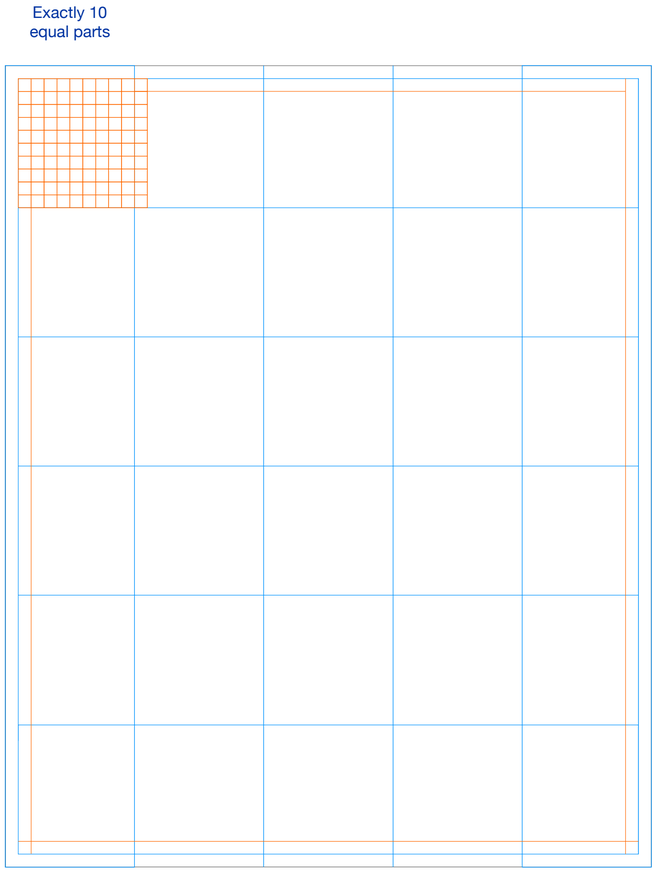

Step 3:
Finish the base grid and establish margins

Fill in the rest of the base grid (shown here in blue lines) using the unit established in step 2. If you began by establishing columns, this means drawing the rows. If you started with rows, this means drawing the columns.

Next, divide the base grid unit into exactly 10 equal parts in both directions. Use one or two of these units as the exterior margin for your document. If your layout will include a cornerstone tile, use one grid unit as your margin to ensure proper alignment.

Use this same measurement as the interior margin between your rows and columns. If your design includes an outer border, then this margin is an additional space inside that border.

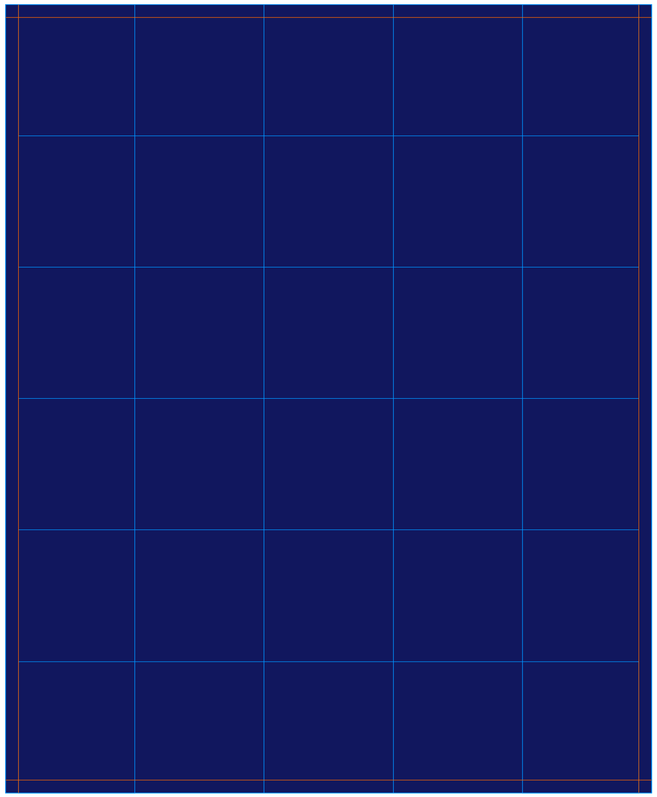

Note:
When you create an equal margin on all sides of your layout, it’s acceptable if the margin guide doesn’t align perfectly with the grid along one edge.

Step 4:
Add a background photo or color

Backgrounds may be left blank or filled with color or imagery.

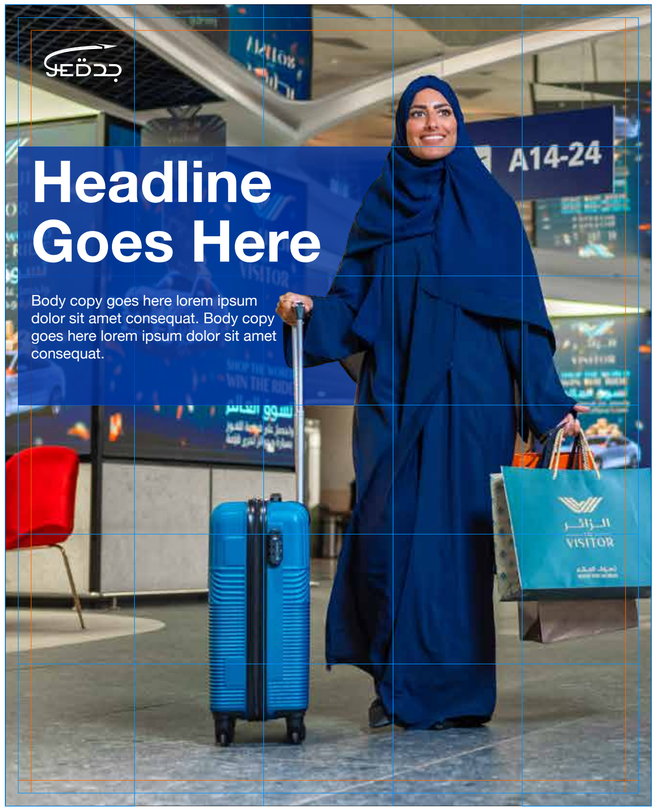

Step 5a:
Add the logo and content tiles with transparent box.

The logo is generally placed in one corner of the layout. Regardless of where it’s placed on the page, it should be leftaligned within the text grid.

Content tiles align to the document grid (blue lines) and may be any whole number of grid units in size. The first one must be adjacent to the cornerstone tile. Additional tiles are added adjacent to one another.

For internal communications use a transparent box always. This ensures clear text along with clean visual for communications.

Step 5b:
Add the logo and content tiles with triangle.

The logo is generally placed in one corner of the layout. Regardless of where it’s placed on the page, it should be leftaligned within the text grid.

Content tiles align to the document grid (blue lines) and may be any whole number of grid units in size. The first one must be adjacent to the cornerstone tile. Additional tiles are added adjacent to one another.

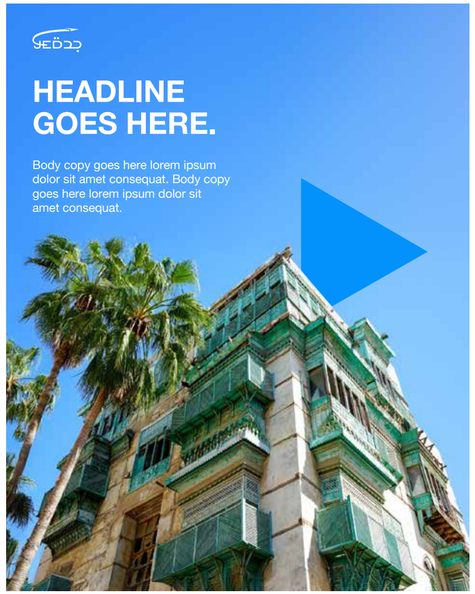

For internal communications use a transparent box always. This ensures clear text along with clean visual for communications.

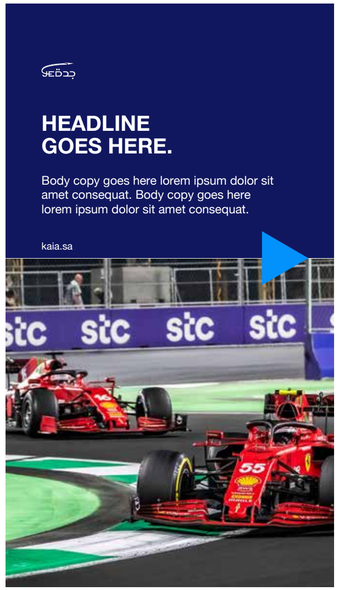

Showcase

Mark Usage For Film

To maintain consistency across all KAIA film content, the brand mark must follow a unified placement and animation style.

The brand mark should be positioned by aligning the bottom of the emblem’s curve to the center line of the chosen format. This ensures harmony across all screen sizes and visual assets.

When used in combination with our brand line, Crossroads of Ambitions, the position and scale remain unchanged. Always select the appropriate lock-up based on the language of the intended audience.

The following page outlines the correct sizing of the brand mark across various formats to ensure visual consistency in all KAIA communications.

Digital Formats

16:9 — The futureloop is 25% of the screen height.

9:16 — The futureloop is 16.67% of the screen height.

4:5 — The futureloop is 23.70% of the screen height.

1:1 — The futureloop is 26.85% of the screen height.

Subtitle Formats

To ensure clarity and consistency across all KAIA visual content, subtitle text must follow a unified system for scale, spacing, and placement across various aspect ratios. These guidelines apply to both Latin and Arabic scripts, using the same percentage values for each.

16:9 Format
Cap height: 2.69% of the screen height
Leading: 1.69 × the text height
Baseline position: 1 line height above the bottom edge

9:16 Format (Vertical)
Cap height: 1.67% of the screen height
Leading: 1.72 × the text height
Baseline position: 3.94 line heights from the bottom edge

4:5 Format
Cap height: 2.15% of the screen height
Leading: 1.69 × the text height
Baseline position: 1.4 line heights from the bottom edge

1:1 Format
Cap height: 2.69% of the screen height
Leading: 1.69 × the text height
Baseline position: 1.1 line heights from the bottom edge

These settings ensure legibility, harmony, and brand consistency across all media, regardless of format or language.

Name and Titles

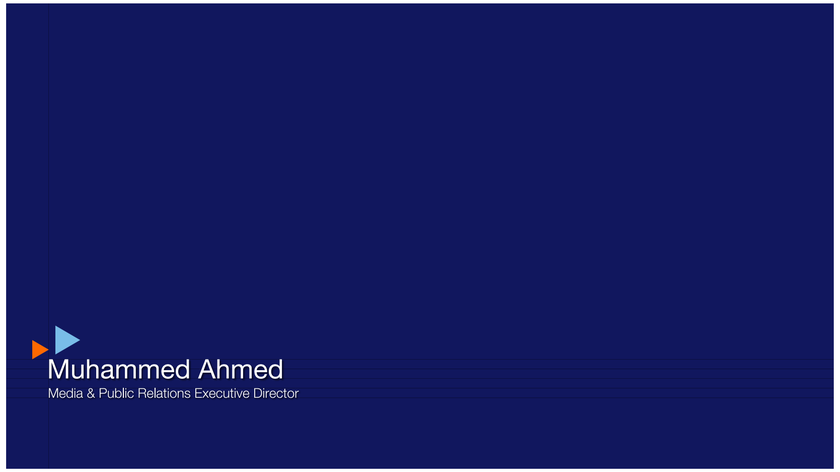

To maintain visual consistency and clarity in KAIA’s video content, all on-screen names and titles must follow these specifications:
- Latin names should be set in Brown Regular, all uppercase, with 200 tracking, and left-aligned.
- Arabic names should use 29LT Bukra Regular, with 0 tracking, and right-aligned.

The cap height of the name should be 4.5% of the screen height.
Job titles are sized at 65% of the name’s height, maintaining clear hierarchy.

A subtle drop shadow (50% black) is applied to all text to enhance readability across diverse backgrounds.

Positioning:
- The baseline of the name sits 23% up from the bottom of the screen.
- The name is positioned 6% in from the right edge for Arabic, or left edge for Latin names.

Use the cap height of the name to determine the vertical placement of the title.

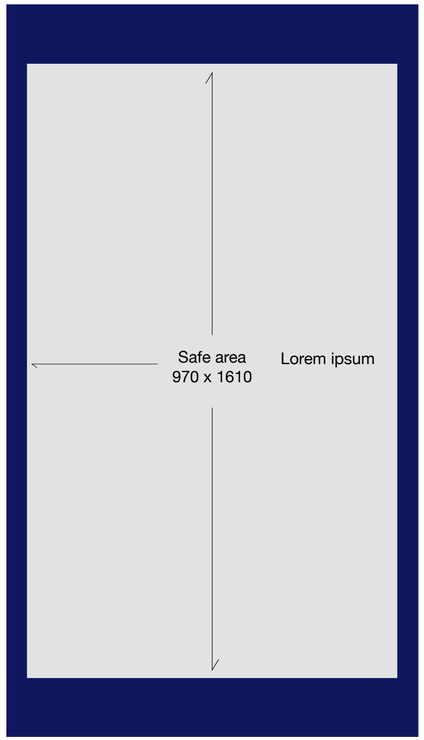

Mark usage For Social Media

To ensure clear visibility and avoid UI interference, always place logos, text, and key visuals within designated safe zones. Below are specifications for each format.

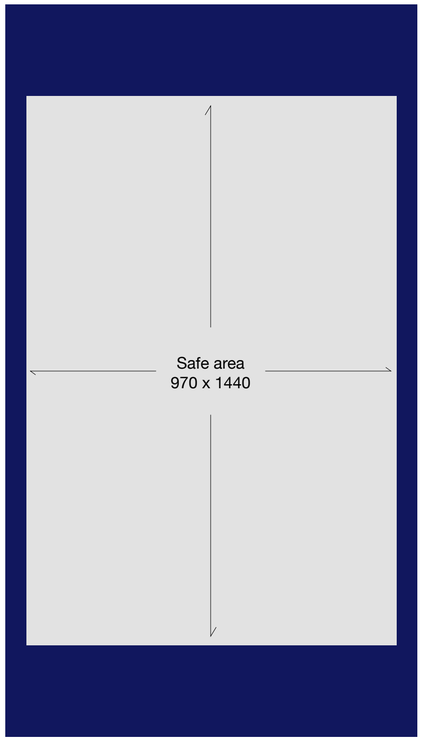

Stories
(9 : 16) 1080 x1920

Story Post Formats:
- 9:16
- Recommended Size: 1080 x 1920 px

Safe Area:
- leave 475 px from top and bottom for elements by the service provider like profile picture, name, progress bar
- Bottom UI area (unsafe): 1670–1920 px – Reply bar, Leave 155 px from the left and right side to avoid cropping of any text or logo.

- Keep all essential elements (logos, headlines, etc.) within the central 1080 x 1080 px area.
- Avoid placing text within the top and bottom 135 px, as they may be cropped in feed previews.
- Maintain at least 90 px of padding from all edges.

6. CORPORATE EXPRESSION

Envelope

This section showcases the letterhead designs in three sizes: A3, A4, and DL. Each design prominently features an embossed KAIA logo at the center, enhancing the brand’s presence and ensuring consistency across all communication materials. The subtle embossing adds a tactile element that reinforces the brand’s premium identity.

Additionally, the footer information is carefully placed on the backside, maintaining a clean and professional aesthetic. This design approach ensures a seamless and sophisticated look across all document formats.

Letterhead

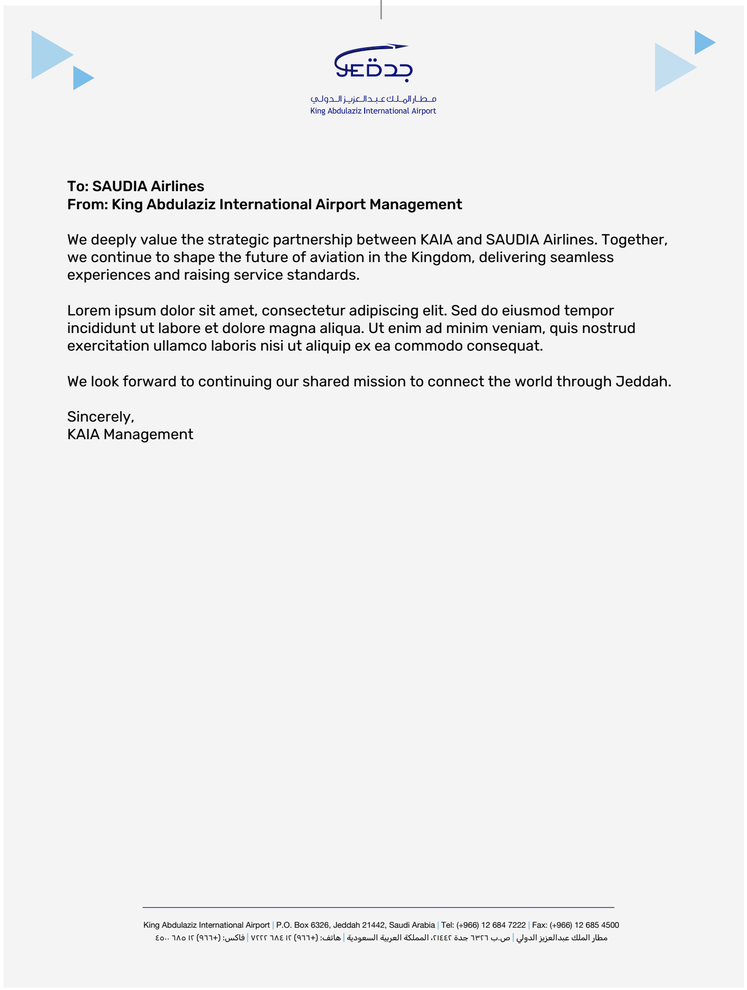

Option 1

The primary KAIA brand mark is placed at the top center of the letterhead to create a balanced and formal appearance. At the bottom center, the footer information is bilingual, displayed in two lines: English on the top line, and Arabic directly below it. This symmetrical structure ensures clarity and equal emphasis on both languages.
